For the prevention and cure of MELIUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons who have been attacked, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak in favour of a medicine than commons of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proceeded as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken in every two weeks during the presence of our bilious fevers, will prove infallible preventive; and further, in the earlier stages of those diseases its use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases seemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly safe, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the system—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and could be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

that no difficulty arises in taking it.

application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable metic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness or of accident.

ON the night of the 16th inst. my upper man JOHN, or JOHN ALLEN, (as he calls himself)—he is well known, having lived with me for several years, feet 5 inches high, rather of a yellow complexion, but the complete neglect of his cheeks—has a small scar on one of his right leg, directly on the shin bone, which leg has the appearance of being much scored at a former period by disease or the small pox. His hat was made and stamped by Rogers of Baltimore.— A reward of 10 dollars will be given if taken in the town or county of Alexandria, 20 if in the county of Washington or Fairfax, 30 if in Baltimore or state of Fan-Sash Making.

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped, have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.

Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as in town.

Proposals

FOR Publishing by Subscription, and now ready for the press, a series of historical volumes, which when finished will assume the title of Universal History Americanised; Or, an historical view of Europe, Asia, Africa and America, from the earliest records to the nineteenth century—with a particular reference to the state of society, literature, religion, and form of government in the United States of America.

BY DAVID RAMSAY, M. D.
"Life is so short and time so valuable, that it were happy for us if all great works were reduced to their quintessence."
Sir William Jones.

PROSPECTUS.

ASIA.
The Asiatic part of this work contains a general view of the antediluvian—of the general deluge—of the resettlement of the Globe after that great event—of the primitive postdiluvian nations which were formed in Asia, the cradle of the world. Their various ramifications, revolutions, and of the general course of Empire.

AFRICA.
The African part, contains a concise history of Egypt, Carthage, Numidia, Mauritania, Abyssinia, of the Purical States, and the Hottentots, with a grouped view of its uncivilized settlements.

EUROPE.

The European part, contains the history of Greece and Rome, from their origin to their dissolution—of the various nations which were conquered by them—and of the nations by which the Romans themselves were finally conquered, and of the nations which were formed from the fragments of the Roman Empire, and the various revolutions of the latter, together with a view of the nations which never were subjected to the Romans.

AMERICA.

The American part, contains a general history of the Western continent, under the heads of Free, European, and Aboriginal or unconquered America. The first contains a history of the United States, from their first settlement as English Colonies, till the present time.— The second, of all parts dependant on Europe.—And the third, of all that are still owned by the Aborigines.

It is expected that the whole will be comprised in 10 or 12 octavo volumes; of between four and five hundred pages each—to be printed in Philadelphia, on good paper and fair types, for $3 1-3 per volume, in sheep binding, or $4 1-3 Calf Gilt, to be paid for on delivery.

AUTHORITIES.

This work has been in contemplation upwards of 40 years. The project of it was conceived in 1780, on reading the Universal History, then recently edited in 60 volumes, by a society of gentlemen in England. The original idea of extracting the quintessence of that voluminous work, which contained the most complete system of history the world had then seen, has ever since been enlarging and improving by an extensive perusal of the histories written by Robertson, Hume, Gibbon, and other modern authors—of the Asiatic researches—of the works of Sir William Jones, and other learned orientalist—the publications of intelligent travellers, who, in the course of the last half century have explored almost every region of the Globe. These collectively have thrown a blaze of light on countries comparatively unknown, and on portions, both of ancient and modern history which were confused and obscure at the period when the writers of the Universal History published their work. The arrangement of materials collected from these sources commenced in the year 1780, when, in consequence of the surrender of Charleston to Sir Henry Clinton, the author was suddenly released from a sea of business and sent as a prisoner of war to the British Garrison then in St. Augustine, and there confined for eleven months, without any peculiar employment. Steady progress has been made for the last ten years in correcting and transcribing the work for publication.

UNITED STATES.

The History of the United States is given at full length—that of foreign countries is more or less expended or contracted in proportion to the intrinsic importance of each—its tendency to illustrate portions of Holy Writ—the Greek and Latin Classics—and also in propo-tion to its connexion with the U. States, or as furnishing useful practical information to its citizens, or as the paternal soil of their ancestors.

The above sketch of the nature and objects of this immense work, which has occupied the attention of the Author for upwards of 40 years, was found among his papers, and is now given to the public in his own words. Since that period, a few chapters have been added by the Reverend SAMUEL STANHOPE SMITH, which brings it down to the close of the last war.

The publication commences with a third impression of the History of the U-States, in three volumes, which is all that has ever appeared. The whole will not be delivered under 15 or 20 months. It is proper to state, that the gentlemen who have the direction of it are neither booksellers nor printers, and receive no pecuniary consideration for their trouble —but are willing to make the necessary advances to carry it into execution provided the sale is warranted by public patronage. The profits arising are to be appropriated for the support and education of his children, four of each sex: to them its success is a matter of deep importance.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A letter from Messrs. T. & I. D. Thorne, dated Liverpool, 18th April, says:—“Ashes have remained so very dull, contrary to the general expectation, which led us to expect a great consumption at this season, that the prices have continued to give way. We quote New-York Pot 57s. Pearls 57 to 58s. Our future prices, independent of the arrivals will depend on the demand, which we have ever found it difficult to foresee, and which seems peculiarly so this year, as they are now making it at Birmingham from Brimstone, a good substitute for Pearl Ashes, which has been selling at about 55s. and which has materially diminished the home consumption. Flour is very dull, and 55s. is the nominal price. Cotton in demand, and there appears great confidence in the price being supported. Sowing Flaxseed is dull at 51. per hhd. Naval Stores are in little request at our quotations. In the middle of last month, there was a good inquiry for the best low qualities of Tobacco, and in consequence of some large purchases, principally on speculation, the prices of this description advanced nearly 4 per lb. The manufacturers have since supplied themselves pretty freely, and for some days the demand has been trifling. The stock of Kentucky is now very small, and the total quantity in the warehouses is not more than 3930 hhd.”

On the 13th ult. there was an unusual bustle on the Exchange, London. Consols rose from 79 to 81½ & 82½. The new plans to raise money had occasioned a general rise of all Stocks. The subscriptions at the Bank were immense. One country banker subscribed 700,000l.; another 650,000l.

The letters from Rome state, that the Concordat concluded between the Holy See and Naples completely secures the toleration of the Protestant Religion.

The Salisbury, 33, Admiral Douglas, arrived at Portsmouth from Jamaica on the 10th ult. having on board 800,900 dollars, and 130 cases of cochineal. It is stated in the Courier that the day before he sailed, was visited by a native 143 years of age, having walked 14 miles to see the Admiral, who was very much pleased by the compliment, and brought home a correct likeness of this native. He had never been off the Island, and gave some interesting particulars of the earthquake in 1687.

The new day of Algiers commenced his reign by the liberation from the seraglio of his predecessor, of all the young female Christians and Jewesses.

The English editors may well laugh at the absurdity of a report, that Louis the 18th had determined to adopt the Son of Napoleon to succeed the Bourbon dynasty!

The editor of the Courier notices, on the first of April, in a very emphatic manner, the preparations going on in this country, for the establishment of the naval depots and concludes by observing,

“The zeal and activity in which America is pursuing her plans of naval aggrandisement and security, should at least be borne in mind by ourselves. We wish to inspire no peevish jealousies or suspicions, but only to awaken a proper caution, which should contemplate future contingencies.”

Mr. Topliff, our Boston correspondent, in addition to the marine news in another part of this day's Gazette, has forwarded us a Gibraltar price current, of the 4th ult. from which we derive the following quotations:

ALEXANDRIA: MONDAY, MAY 25, 1818.

ALAS, POOR PUTNAM!

“Would heart of man once think it?” Could any one have believed, if the fact were not brought out full before his eyes, that old Israel Putnam—of all men in the world, old Israel Putnam, is at this day dragged forth from his grave, and the imputation of Cowardice—Cowardice of all things! dashed in the eyes of the world, of his skeleton. This is the most singular and unexpected outrage upon the authority of history that we have ever heard of; and without pretending to decide upon the particular transaction at Bunker's Hill, said to be now alluded to, we scruple not to affirm that, if any one could by sufficient evidence prove that Putnam was a Coward, the testimony of history is not worth a stale herring, nor the universal opinion, or the unanimous voice of society any more to be believed than the word of the vilest habitual liar. Unless history and the universal acclaim of almost all the people who were competent to decide upon his character, have conspired to impose upon the credulity of the world, the valor of Putnam stands established by a number of deeds of hardihood, to which a Coward must be utterly incompetent. His feat in the wolf's den—his escape from a superior force of the British by galloping down a steep precipice—his general estimation too among the circle in which he moved, should, one would think, shield him forever from suspicion of cowardice. How is it—by what secret necromancy did he accomplish the reputation he possessed from his outset in life, till Gen. Dearborn condescended to rob him of the sad immunities of the tomb, and in contradiction to that Godlike maxim “de mortuis nil nisi bonum,” to traduce him in the dust?—How did it happen that the vigilant chiefs of the revolutionary war remained silent, or why did not General Dearborn himself, in proper time step forth and intercept the honors which were so lavishly showered by the American people upon Putnam, that the very children were taught to flap his name, and that his deeds of Pith were enumerated amongst those stories which in school and story-books stir up the young blood of our brave artless boys, and animate them to emulation in arms?—If Gen. Dearborn's suggestion be true, then, as I said before—is no one character to be judged by the evidence of history—and the voice of the people—that cabalistic puff—which furnishes political impostors with such a powerful instrument of deception, to be any more heeded than the senseless howl of a dog baying the moon of a light night.

For the authenticity of history in general we feel little disposed to contend; because we have constantly rising before us proofs that the most simple transaction will be so defaced even in the immediate fresh relations of it, that of two or three or four witnesses, no two shall be found to relate it alike. We have before us at this moment a strong instance—An attempt was made in Paris, last February, to assassinate the Duke of Wellington;—the Paris papers had each a particular paragraph upon the circumstance—they are all detailed verbatim in the London Morning Chronicle of the 16th February, which we have now on our table—and they disagree in the representation of it. The Moniteur says that the shot did not strike the duke, nor even his carriage;—so says the Journal du Commerce. Another states that if the window of the carriage had been down, the duke would have been killed, as a rifle ball struck the strong plate glass and shattered it to pieces—And lastly, an account by express, brings the intelligence that “no person was wounded—the carriage even was not hurt.”—Such are the materials of which history is composed:—But the reputation of Putnam did not rest on the quills of historians—the viva voce evidence of the world, in his life time, supported it—the hearts of the American people over-dewed with it—and bravery—and as we understand mere bravery, not over much accommodated by the hand-maid talent, was its characteristic.

We must confess ourselves strongly averse to giving credit to the assertion of any man of any ten men against such long established opinions and feelings, which, like the famous Portland stone, however soft or susceptible of the chizze they may be when fresh from the quarry, gain, and ought to gain, impenetrable hardness from time and exposure to the air, and indeed ought, after being so long acquiesced in, to be left to themselves forever. These after-reckonings ought to be rejected under such circumstances without examination, because they can do no good; and the probability is that they will do wrong. The long silence of the letter bears internal evidence of the falsehood of the tale. And it is much more likely that two old soldiers should be blinded by personal prejudice than that a whole people should pass a coward into the history of the times as proverbial for valor.

Suppose that the Duke of Wellington above mentioned were to die, and some thirty or forty years after his death the redoubtable Sir Hugh Dalrymple, that base jatroon who gave up at the treaty of Cintra all the advantages gained by Sir Arthur Wellesley, rather than risk his precious pot body in a battle, were to come forward and swear that the duke was a coward, who would believe him? I presume no one in the whole world.—Yet that Sir Hugh Dalrymple would be capable of such a giving out we do know.

We are far from intending to derogate from the character of general Dearborn or the veteran Stark by comparing them with Dalrymple or calling their veracity or courage in question, but we mean to illustrate by the introduction of that calumniator's name the persuasion we feel that an improbable story will never make its way against old strong established evidence, and we think it ought not, even though it were intrinsically true. To believe such things goes to the destruction of that confidence among men, without which society cannot exist; or if it could, would be worse than savage life. It was a standing advice to his sons of one of the wisest and best of the human race, “Never tell an improbable story, even though you know it to be true.”

But what do we say—has not Napoleon Bonaparte been called a coward? Rest quiet in thy coffin, then, old heart of oak, Putnam. When any man will be secure against calumny, and not till then, so will you. When Napoleon or Wellington, or Charles the 12th of Sweden, shall be believed to be cowards, so will you.

Extract of a letter dated U. S. Frigate Congress at sea—lat. 14, 31. long. 32, 42—Feb. 14, 1818.

“The king of the Brazils was crowned or rather proclaimed on the 6th of February. For three days we were almost deafened by the roaring of artillery—for three nights the city and houses in its vicinity were splendidly illuminated, and the air filled with fire-works of various sorts. We frequently rowed close in and so saw the show to advantage. In getting up such splendid pageants, despotism surpasses republics; this is indeed its fault. Yet no brilliancy of lights or tastefulness in their disposition could make as republicans forget, that the money thus wasted was plundered from the people. We got nothing at Rio but water and insult. We were involved in an unpleasant dispute with the Portuguese government. A sailor (I believe a Portuguese) went on shore to act as interpreter. He made off, was seen a day or two afterwards by two of our lieutenants who seized him. He claimed the protection of a guard of Portuguese soldiers who happened to be near, declaring himself to be a Portuguese subject.

They conducted him, our officers keeping their hold, to a house which turned out to be the office of the Port Admiral. Our officers when about leaving the presence of this personage, who not being in uniform they knew not to be such, inadvertently put on their hats—they were instantly charged with intending to insult one of his majesty's officers. The hat of one taken forcibly from his head, and the fist of a Portuguese shaken in the face of the other—as they proceeded to the quay a mob collected and hissed them. Shortly after Sumter received a most extraordinary letter from the Portuguese prime minister, charging our officers with gross misconduct, requiring them to be punished in a way adequate to the heinousness of their offence, alledging the map who had taken refuge and who remains with them, to be a Portuguese we had impressed and ill treated, asserting we detained others and requiring us to deliver them up. Sinclair replied in a spirited manner.

He was afterwards presented to the king, (the day before the proclamation) who received him with distinguished politeness, professing his desire to be on good terms with us, because, as he said, we are more sincere than other nations. We saluted as well as the other ships in the harbor, which considering the indignity offered us, and the additional one of our flag not being hoisted in any of their ships which were dressed on the occasion, (the English flag occupying a prominent place) we ought not, I think to have done. It was reported that if we attempted to sail before an adjustment of this affair, fort Santa Cruz would fire upon us—Sumpter advised us to wait—we however set sail as soon as we could get on board the clothes we had sent to be washed.

“We went out cleared for action; we had even our matches ready lighted.—When we drew near the fort a boat pushed off; we then fully expected that we were to be required to drop anchor, and of course, that we should refuse and have a fight. The officer who came on board asked only the name and destination, &c. of our ship, which is customary; and we passed Santa Cruz, which mounts more than one hundred guns, unmolested.”

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the Winaw Intelligencer, dated in Sumter District, 4th inst.

Since my last I have been much fatigued in riding, by the calls from the sufferers in the western part of Darling district. The Epidemic Catarrh still prevails, and numbers fall victims to its dreadful effects. The attacks are so varied and sudden that it appears to defy the power of medicine after twenty-four hours. And some others actually die for want of aid.

Having been generally successful in my practice in the above complaint, I have acquainted my friends by letter, hoping it may be useful in sudden attacks. I have attended patients attacked in every way, all of which may be represented thus: Typhus Neumonia, Typhus Pleurisy, Influenza and Quinzy. When the attacks are typhus, after a mild Emetic, the free use of cold bathing by an ablu-tion or affusion, being directed by the patient's strength, produce the happiest effects. The last I visited were attacked as above mentioned, and treated as above, only add the use of Bark and Rhubarb, viz. in six ounces of bark put twenty grains of rhubarb, to be taken in the day. When seized as in the form of Pleurisy, the stronger emetics and cathartics must be used with large blisters after which tonics may be introduced successfully.—In Influenza, the valuable invention of Jennings, gives sure and speedy relief—it assists every effort of nature—but I find the effect more beneficial when preceded by a very mild emetic, after which, mild laxative medicine with the use of Dover's powders, answers the desired purpose. The cases of malignant Quinzy are more sudden, more frequent, and more dangerous within a fortnight, than they have ever been known here. Probably the fluctuating state of the weather may be assigned as a cause. In such cases it is necessary to use strong emetics if the constitution can possibly bear them, a gargle of very strong vinegar and a poultice strongly seasoned with red pepper, though severe, are efficacious. In attacks like this, I have found a few, but very few cases, where the pulse would justify one in blood-letting, and in all the above, the practice is speedily repro-bated by the approach of death. My bill of mortality has one only out of the number attacked with the epidemic. I am ready to believe the disorder is not as difficult to remove as many assert. I find the most unsuccessful physicians here, are those most fearful of contagious disorders; when many common farmers have to be successfully received into their places. True it is, in many after twenty-four hours, and in all after the third day, the cases are doubtful. Close attention to the complaint, will give every one to see the necessity of having persons laboring under the disease, kept in houses well ventilated, using every kind of prevention necessary in contagious disorders—no noise can be supposed more so than this.

Having given you in a plain and brief manner the outlines of my treatment, from which your own judgment may carry you farther, I proceed to give you a relation of one or two cases which came to my own knowledge within the last month. I was called in April to a boy on Jeffrey creek, about ten years of age, his pulse was such with other symptoms, as to induce me to believe his case altogether typhus—he had been sick three days, he could answer any question promptly and accurately, but as soon as the conversation ceased he was wild in his remarks and every thing was such as is common in a delirium. Stop him, or ask him a question while he was proceeding, and he would answer it correctly. When speaking in a correct and judicious manner, if he could get your hand, would bite it—he would whistle in the most lively strains imaginable, as long as his breath would serve him. Another not far distant acted in like manner, but rose out of his bed and run out of doors with dreadful shrieks, apparently mad. Several other cases of like singularity, have I witnessed.

LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 45, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or gripping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Tape or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitin or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fecid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of

BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAIN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases extremely desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
